Classroom news

The reading wallets will have some new sounds in them this week. Remember to cut up your new sounds and practise them little and often. The children can practise the formation of these new sounds and tell you the rhymes!

Well done for everyone that has practised their formation this week! We have loved looking through them.

We apologise for the delay in you receiving the Evidence Me observations. Hopefully the problem has been fixed and you have seen some of the fun things we have been getting up to.

Next week we are learning….

Theme – My senses
Phonics – c k u b f
Maths – Match, sort and compare

Author Study

Each half term we will be exploring stories written by the same author.

This half term is Mick Inkpen. Our first story introduced his main character 'Kipper'.
